

When Are Mandatory Questions Useful? - If you require information from a race participant that is important data that you need to collect for your race, you can select the mandatory field on the race submission form. Creating a mandatory response as needed ensures the critical data fields are available when you run exports.

Custom Questions

Note to race director: You can add custom questions with selectable or free-form responses to the registration form. In the Response fields, to list each response use a carriage return between each possible response. Leave blank to allow free form response.
